A STRONGHOLD AT LEUNA FALLS

One Thousand "Red" Prisoners Are Captured.

Berlin Quiet.

Berlin March 29—[Noon]—The situation is quiet This was regarded by the government as the critical day in the Communist rising, but no indications at this hour were that the movement for a general strike was a failure However Reds continue flocking into the city from middle Germany Police sections were thrown about railway stations and many of the incoming Communists were arrested

The Security police reported the capture of 500 bandits who were plundering property near Ammendorf The leader wore a Russian uniform and many of the men wore Russian military overcoats A complete set of military plans for active operations was found upon the leader

Berlin's attempt to capitalize the middle Germany revolt and turn to Germany's political profit the reports that middle Germany was "aflame with anarchy and Bolshevism," professed serious danger to the Ebert government. After a week of agitation—vacillation, diplomat[illegible] that was carried out purportedly to frighten the Entente—the members of the government have awakened to their own danger and to the possibility that the rising may extend beyond their control Barbed-wire entanglements were strung across Wilhelmstrasse, converting the government building d[illegible] into a citadel

Some Developments

At first members of the government felt confident that the 'Red' insurrection was limited to small demonstrations Certain Wilhelmstrasse circles at the beginning of the outbreak grimly expressed satisfaction in the words "I told you so" They added

The allies wanted to disarm us [illegible] what happened Now do the allies think they can enslave us for [illegible] years? Look at middle Germany See what the allies have done there"

Thereupon the officials took le[illegible] methods of suppression The German Socialist government fearing loss of Socialistic votes and [illegible] majorities halfheartedly ordered the troops to suppress the "Reds" The Communists were liberally supplied with munitions and dynamite [illegible] were handled leniently It was charged to the officers of the Security police, it is declared on good authority, that 'too many of the Reds should not be killed or courtmartialed might follow.

The attempt of the Communists to [illegible] a general strike, today, was a failure, according to the government The following communique was issued by the police department [illegible] the afternoon

"Public Germany is quieting down The police are cleaning up [illegible] workers of the peace The [illegible] of the movement is failing"

Fourteen Killed

March 29—Fourteen persons were killed and forty were wounded in a great collision between the [illegible] police and Communists at [illegible] in the Ruhr district, today [illegible] of the dead were Soviet soldiers Essen is the seat of the Krupp works and other great [illegible] industries.

INEFFICIENT MANAGEMENT

Gets Railroads into Present Financial Plight.

VIEW EXPRESSED BY ECONOMIST LAUCK

National Agreements Are Not Handicaping Roads.

Economist Does Not Find Even Reasonable Efficiency in Handling of Railway Affairs. Some Points Submitted.

Chicago March 29—Inefficient of railroad management rather than the national agreements fixing wages and working conditions of employment is responsible for the financial plight of the railroads W. Jett Lauck consulting economist of the railroad labor organizations declared in a statement to the United States railway labor board today. Lauck today began the presentation of labor's case before the board

"The root of the railroad difficulty Lauck declared is not in national agreements but in the inadequacies of management Conservatively stated if railroad management was characterized by reasonable efficiency and had available to its use a proper amount of credit or capital labor costs would have shown a radical decline under national agreements and savings in operating expenses of at least $1,000,000,000 annually would be made"

Lauck outlined six points which he declared upheld the soundness of the policies represented by the national agreements

First, he declared the policy of establishing national agreements or uniform rates of pay and working conditions is in conformity with custom and precedent in the transportation industry and in accordance with best public policy

Second, Lauck asserted, collective bargaining on a national scale and national agreements as to working conditions and relations have been found to be the best means of stabilizing conditions in other basic industries of the country

Points Recognized.

In Great Britain Lauck's third point declared, these facts have become so clearly recognized that national agreements are encouraged by both employers and employes and an effort is being made to make them compulsory in all industries.

When the railroad administration entered into the national agreements Lauck asserted as his fourth contention, it merely recognized a tendency which had reached complete development during the war and which was sanctioned by enlightened opinion, both within and without the transportation industry

Fifth, Lauck pointed out, representatives of the railroads have practically given their sanction to national rates of pay and working conditions of engine and train crews These classes, he declared, have uniform rates of pay and working conditions embodied in agreements on individual roads, but underwritten by the national organizations and concurred in by the railroads on a national basis

Railroads, Lauck charged in his sixth contention are consciously and deliberately taking advantage of a temporary industrial depression to destroy human standards sanctioned by long established practices of the leading industrial nations of the world

DIPLOMACY TO SOLVE PROBLEM

Will Make Disposition of Cables of Isle of Yap.

OPINION EXPRESSED BY BARON MEGATA

Delicate Question for America and Japan.

Baron Megata on Mission Covering Mandates Over Islands of the Pacific Is Now Visiting in United States.

(BY HARRY L. ROGERS)

[Copyright 1921 by I. N. S.]

Washington March 29 The question of the island of Yap is most delicate but there is every reason to believe diplomacy will find a satisfactory solution of the problem, according to Baron Megata member of the Japanese house of lords and Japanese delegate to the league of nations who is passing through Washington on his way back to Japan from the recent meeting of the league at Geneva

The baron who as a young man, attended a seminary at West Newton Massachusetts, will leave today for San Francisco where he will remain for a few days before sailing for Tokio

Being technically still on a mission which includes the question of mandates over the island of the Pacific the baron declined to enter into a detailed discussion of the Yap situation, though he expressed the belief that the controversy over the disposition of the former German cables would be cleared up satisfactorily in the communications conference now in session here

Japan's position with regard to Yap he intimated is that the island was awarded to her under agreements approved by powers which presumably had authority to make such awards and until that decision is changed Japan can not do otherwise than claim the territory awarded her

"I am somewhat out of touch with the situation in California," said Baron Megata, "and I wish to spend a few days on the coast in order to get first-hand information of conditions there"

While the baron does not attempt to deny that many serious matters remain to be adjusted between Japan and the United States he is convinced there is no question so serious as to menace the good relations of the two countries He believes the two nations are well on the way toward a satisfactory settlement on both the immigration question and the question of land tenure

Is Confident.

"I have not seen the official report of the conversations conducted between Ambassador Morris and Baron Shidehara" he said "but I am confident that those interchanges have greatly clarified the situation"

Baron Magata said he understood the negotiations thus far have been entirely satisfactory to the Tokio government

"It is perfectly natural" he said "that Japanese who have lived in California for a long time and by their industry and intelligence cultivated and improved the land should feel some concern at suggestions that they are to be deprived permanently of the privileges they have enjoyed I am sure, however that the Japanese both here and in Japan are viewing the situation calmly and will cheerfully abide by any decision which the two nations may reach"

The baron is inclined to be skeptical of suggestions that universal abolition of armaments is a possibility of the immediate future

"The situation in Japan is unlike that in any of the other great nations of the world" he explained

Japan's problem is complicated by unusual conditions as regards both skilled labor and materials The time ordinarily required for building a battleship is approximately three years but in Japan it is much longer I have been away from Japan for five months and therefore I hesitate to speak the minds of leaders there, but personally I am inclined, because of these unusual conditions, to doubt whether Japan would join in a so-called naval holiday

"Much has been said about Japan's naval plans," he continued "I am in a position definitely to assert that there has been no unusual augmentation of the Japanese naval strength and that none is contemplated.

"The program now being carried out was determined upon more than

VIVIANI KEEPS SECRET TODAY

Refuses To Disclose Object of His Mission.

WAITS INTERVIEW WITH PRESIDENT

Says He Is Not Here To Discuss French Debt to United States.

New York, March 29 Rene Viviani ex-premier of France succinctly resisted, today all attempts to elicit from him the exact nature of his mission to the United States In an exclusive interview with the International News service, he consented to tell only what he would not discuss with President Harding, tomorrow By the process of elimination, however, the inescapable conclusion was that America's adherence to a league of nations, modified so as to suit America, will be the main topic of conversation between the distinguished French statesman and President Harding

That was also the conclusion of James W. Gerard, former United States ambassador to Germany, who acted as interpreter at the interview.

"My interview with President Harding, tomorrow," said M. Viviani "will not deal with the French debt to the United States, nor will I discuss the French occupation of the German Rhine district in default of the payment of reparations"

It was these two subjects that had been believed to be the crucial ones for which the French ex-premier has come to these shores on his mysterious special mission

"M. Viviani says," interpreted Mr Gerard, laying stress on the negative side of the interview, "that he will not discuss, tomorrow, with the president matters pertaining to the debt France owes to America.

"He also states that the occupation of German cities by French troops will not be spoken of. He will not make the real object of his errand here public until after his interview with Mr. Harding."

It was then that the former ambassador to Germany advanced his own personal opinion regarding M. Viviani's "real" mission, namely that it was "to get us into a league of nations and to win our sympathy for

BLAST WRECKS A WAREHOUSE

Explosion In the Windy City, This Morning.

TERRIBLY MANGLED BODIES RECOVERED

By Searchers in the Mass of Smoking Ruins.

Some Victims Have Their Heads Blown Off—Believed the Explosion Is Due to Accumulation of Gas in Building.

Chicago, March 29—Six bodies, terribly mangled, have been recovered and many persons were injured in a terrific blast of unknown origin, which wrecked a four story paper warehouse on the Southwest Side shortly before 11 a. m. today Fire followed the explosion and firemen and police were at work searching the smoking ruins for possible additional victims of the explosion

At 11:30 a. m., Coroner Peter M. Hoffman issued a statement in which he said the death toll would probably reach ten and the injured, probably about sixty This estimate was based on a partial, unofficial check of those working in the place and those known to have been in the vicinity at the time

A special call was investigating the report that a leaky gas main was responsible for the explosion A woman in the vicinity told the police she had telephoned the gas company, previous to the blast, to complain of a smell of gas in the neighborhood

Windows within a radius of many blocks were shattered by the terrific concussions and men and women employes rushed from nearby stores and houses in panic

Identification of the bodies taken from the debris has been impossible because of their mutilation. The body of a small girl about three years old, was the last body taken from the ruins, about 11:45 a. m.

The other dead were unidentified men, two with their heads blown off and the others badly mangled.

ENGLAND WILL WAIT FOR TIME

In No Hurry To Cancel or Pay American Obligation.

IS QUIETLY LEAVING BIG WAR DEBT ALONE

Lord Chalmers Will Not Be Sent to Washington.

Great Britain Changes Plan Regarding Financial Expert and to All Appearance Drops All Suggestions Made.

London, March 29.—The British government has adopted a "wait and see" policy upon the question of the United States war debt and will not make any immediate move either towards its cancellation or its payment, it was learned from official sources today.

The decision of the government not to send Lord Chalmers, the treasury department's financial expert, to Washington at this time presumably means the abandonment of various suggestions for the underwriting, or cancellation, of the great sums of money owed to the United States. Among the proposals which were presented and which have evidently been dropped, was one involving German government bonds. It was suggested that the United States accept German bonds for the amount of the allied debt, thus giving America vital interest in the indemnity issue.

Great Britain is said to be in no immediate hurry to bring the question to a climax.

British officials believe that nothing decisive could be settled so early in the administration of President Harding, who has been in power less than a month.

It was stated that no notification has been received from the American president, either official or otherwise, that an American mission is being sent to Europe to report on the international situation. It is believed here that the report carried back to Washington by Senator Medill McCormick, of Illinois, will be very influential in deciding the future course of many senators.

The arrival of former Premier Rene Viviani, of France, in the United States, has again brought to the public attention in a forcible way the relative positions of America and the allies. There have been many reports as to what M. Viviani will discuss with President Harding, the allied war debt among them.

ARE OPPOSING THE DUNN BILL

Governor Davis Sees Sinister Influences Working.

SPECIAL INTERESTS FIGHTING MEASURE

Failure To Adopt Emergency Clause Equal to Defeat of Bill, Says Davis.

Columbus, March 29.—That sinister influences of political and other special interests, "with ulterior motives," are opposing the Dunn bill providing for the reorganization of state departments, now pending in the senate, is the charge made, today, by Governor Davis.

The governor vigorously advocated adoption of the emergency clauses attached to the bill.

"I will not permit those who are more interested in political patronage than in the state, or any other special interests which are seeking to promote selfish purposes, to emasculate the reorganization measure for their own benefit and at the expense of the people," declared Governor Davis.

The governor said the legislature had "courageously stood its ground in the face of tremendous pressure from sources not usually aligned with the people's interests."

He expressed confidence that the senate will pass the measure "with the same overwhelming majority as did the house."

"The harmful effect of enactment of the bill without the emergency clause will be so great that defeat of the bill as a whole is preferable to that contingency, declared Governor Davis.

Expressing the opinion that there has never been a clearer case of "emergency" legislation than is presented in the Dunn reorganization bill, the governor said that the action of the senate on this measure will determine whether the affairs of state will be governed:

By placing them at once on a basis of businesslike efficiency and economy, by enactment of the bill as an emergency; or, by continuing the "present haphazard, wasteful and wholly inadequate system by defeat of the bill as a whole," or by throwing the state's business into a state of uncertainty, disorganization and chaos, with all the natural consequences of such a condition, by defeating the emergency clause.

"With this three-cornered alternative confronting the state, I would be remiss in my duty if I did not strongly urge the necessity of the emergency clause on this legislation," said Governor Davis.

RAIL MATTERS GET ATTENTION

President and Cabinet Find Situation Grave.

FREIGHT RATES ARE NEARLY PROHIBITIVE

Railway Managers and Shippers Are Clamoring for Reduction in Rates.

Washington, March 29.—The growing seriousness of the railroad situation was considered by President Harding and his cabinet, today, for two hours, to the exclusion of nearly everything else.

President Harding, who received newspaper correspondents after the cabinet meeting, announced that he had summoned Chairman Clark, of the interstate commerce commission and the chairman of the railway labor board to confer with him at the White House as soon as the railway labor board concludes pending hearings.

The president indicated that the administration regards the railroad situation as one of the most serious problems confronting it and one that calls for an immediate remedy. The administration's first concern, it was indicated, would be to do something to facilitate the return of the railroads to normal from the after-the-war chaos.

Figures have been submitted to the president showing that the railroads are operating at a deficit of approximately $700,000,000 annually.

Rates Too High.

Railway managers have informed the president that in their opinion present freight rates are too high, both from the shippers' standpoint and from the railroad standpoint. The rates have been so high as to be almost prohibitive and the railroad executives have assured the president that they desire these rates adjusted no less than the shippers. The present situation is such that many foreign nations can lay down agricultural and manufactured products in New York far cheaper than the same products can be shipped into New York, from many agricultural and industrial sections of the United States.

In considering the railroad situation, the cabinet also discussed generally the relation between the railroads and the proposed tariff revision and foreign trade. The question of Panama canal tolls was not brought into the discussion.

The cabinet did not discuss the appeal for a pardon for Eugene V. Debs.

Denied Privilege.

Chicago, March 29.—The National Industrial Traffic league, embracing most of the larger shippers of America, was denied the privilege of becoming a party to the hearings now being held by the United States railway labor board, in an order issued by the board, today. The petition of the traffic league was denied on the ground that the shippers were not parties to the original dispute submitted to the board, April 15, 1920.

The shippers sought to enter the dispute between the railroads and their employes as representatives of the public. They contended that interests of the public were so involved in the dispute that they should have a right to be heard before the labor board.

"In the opinion of the board," the opinion announces, "the hearing of the petitioner as a witness would not be beneficial and would not be in the public interest.

"If this petitioner is heard, other organizations of shippers, of which there are many and manufacturers, chambers of commerce, farmers, bankers and other interests must also be heard."

The decision concludes that if these other organizations are heard labor unions and organizations whose members hold definite economic views opposed to the views of the board must also be made parties to the hearings, which would thus become hopelessly involved.

SOLDIERS KILLED DURING ARMISTICE

French and Kemalist Forces Resting on Arms.

Washington, March 29.—The French have agreed to an armistice with the Kemalist forces in Syria and Cilicia, dating from March 19, according to advices received by the state department, today from Berne. The French agreed to evacuate Cilicia.

Notwithstanding the armistice, however the dispatches indicated that the railroad between Adana and Mersina had been cut and that a number of French soldiers were killed.

STAFFORD SEEKS TO COMPEL PAYMENT

Files Mandamus Action in State Supreme Court Today.

Anti-Shimmy Bill.

Albany, N. Y., March 29.—Senator Cotillo's anti-shimmy bill passed the assembly, today, by a vote of ninety-one to twenty-three. The measure refers solely to New York City. It licenses dance halls and gives the commissioner of licenses the right to prohibit dancing. It now goes to the governor.

In Italy it is not uncommon for a criminal to receive full sentence upon each of a number of separate convictions. In Sicily, for instance, a man named Lupo Salvatore was found guilty of sixty-three different acts of fraud. He was condemned to three years' imprisonment on each of the sixty-three counts, bringing the total length of his sentence to one hundred and eighty-nine years.

In England a sentence of life imprisonment is always reviewed at the end of fifteen years, and if the prisoner's conduct has been uniformly good, he is usually released. This is particularly the case where a prisoner has been sentenced for murder, for murderers are usually well-behaved prisoners.

One of the most famous sources of echoes in the world is the Whispering gallery in the dome of St. Paul's cathedral, London, where even the sound made by the ticking of a watch returns distinctly after the lapse of a few seconds.

A man put a woman's head on the silver dollar, and now women are trying to get their hands on it.

The banking interests want him, but powerful individuals and associations such as the Anti-Saloon League; the American Federation of Labor and others are against him and will do all in their power to keep him from being appointed.

DISARMAMENT DISCUSSIONS

America Dealing Informally with England, Says Report.

AGREEMENT TO COVER ALL WAR CHEMICALS

Leading British Official Declares Proposals from Washington Would Be Welomed.

London, March 29.—"America has ... informal disarmament discussions with Great Britian," said a senator, via Washington despatch printed in the N. Y. News today.

According to the Washington correspondent of the Daily News the United States is urging an agreement to include international control of [illegible].

It was impossible to get confirmation of the report. A high British official discussing the matter said:

"Great Britian, as a member of the league of nations, is pledged to a policy of disarmament; America is pledged to nothing."

"If America desires to take up the subject of disarmament, it would be better for her to declare her policy. It would be futile to discuss anything otherwise. It is equally useless to discuss poison gas merely as a side issue. We would welcome any proposals from Washington."

KENTON AVIATOR BADLY INJURED

Navy Surgeon Falls from Height of 1,500 Feet.

Washington, March 29.—Playing the part of the stork flying in an airplane over the mountains of Haiti to officiate at the birth of an army officer's baby, Lieutenant Commander Kenton Melhorn of Kenton, Ohio, navy surgeon, sustained painful injuries when the plane was disabled on the return trip and fell from a height of 1,500 feet.

He is being cared for at the navy hospital here, to which he was brought from Haiti, and was visited there today by Senator Frank B. Willis and Mrs. Willis, who knew him at home. They were accompanied by Frank Bogardus of Kenton, secretary to Congressman Clint Cole, and Mrs Bogardus.

Senator Willis declared the plucky officer, making light of three broken ribs, a broken leg and broken nose, was already talking of returning to his duties in June.

From where the Ohio officer was stationed in Haiti, it was a twenty-seven hour trip by train to the place where the wife of an army officer was expecting the stork, but the trip could be made over the mountains in an airplane in a period of minutes. So Lieutenant Commander Melhorn went by that route.

His task as surgeon successfully performed, the return trip was begun, and at a height of 7,000 feet engine trouble developed. The plane started downward and at 1,500 feet the engine died. From that point the officer has no recollection until he was rescued from the broken plane.

REPORT DAMAGE TO FRUIT CROP

Western States Are Hit by Cold Wave.

EAST AND SOUTH ALSO GET A COLD BLAST

Snow and Sleet Accompanies Storm in Several States. Temperature Records.

Washington, March 29.—Prospects for a record fruit yield in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and other western states have been dispelled by the cold wave which was accompanied by sleet and snow.

Arkansas, Texas and Louisana escaped freezing weather, according to unofficial reports, but considerable damage was done to fruit, potatoes and early gardens in nearly all sections of Oklahoma, federal and state crop authorities said.

Temperatures in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma ranged from sixteen to thirty-two degrees above zero. On the basis of reports from Kansas and Missouri, it is believed peach, apricot, pear and plum trees suffered serious damage, but that the apple crop escaped, except in southwestern Missouri, where serious damage was done by a coating of ice. The most serious damage in Iowa was in the southeastern part.

Fruit growers of southwestern Michigan stated that the freezing weather had probably resulted in thousands of dollars' damage to peaches and early cherries, but that other fruits had not sufficiently developed to be injured. The full extent of the damage, however, will not be known for several days.

The lake region and Mississippi Valley was in the grip of a "severe freeze" last night, the weather bureau said, and temperatures in New England and middle Atlantic states started down after rains. Local rains and cooler weather in south Atlantic states was forecast, with the cold wave reaching the gulf states today.

Warnings of the cold wave were ordered up for New England, the middle Atlantic region, the western portion of the Carolinas, the gulf states, eastern Tennessee and West Virginia.

Two persons were killed when an eighty-mile gale swept New York city and vicinity last evening.

LEGION SEEKS LEGISLATION

Joint Resolution Submitted to State Senate.

IMMEDIATE ACTION IS BEING URGED

"Square Deal" for Sick and Disabled Veterans Sought. Tax Problems.

Columbus, March 29.—The whole problem of taxation legislation, according to Representative Griswold of Geauga, "seems to resolve itself into a question of how far the people are willing to entrust to the general assembly full power to create a tax system."

Mr. Griswold is a member of the house taxation committee and was chairman of the subcommittee which drafted the proposed constitutional amendment.

The resolution proposed by Governor Davis' citizens' committee, Griswold says, it seems to him "would be to give full power to the general assembly to build a tax system subject only to the limitations on the aggregate rate for local purposes and to the limitation of one mill for state purposes."

He says the citizens' committee resolution would make mandatory an income and inheritance tax, but points out that there is no way of enforcing this mandate should the general assembly not see fit to impose such taxes.

The committee held a public hearing on the amendment proposed by the house committee last night. It is expected it will report the amendment out this afternoon.

Griswold says the amendment proposed by the house committee is less flexible than that proposed by Governor Davis' committee in a number of ways, by requiring non-income producing property to pay the general property tax under the uniform rule and "seems to shut off some possibilities" for raising revenue that would be possible under the citizen committee's proposal. He points out that automobile license taxes, under the house committees' resolution, must be retained as at present, the proceeds going to special road improvement fund and can not be used to augment the general revenue fund. Bank deposits, he says, must pay at the uniform rule if they are listed at all, while under the citizens' committee's proposal, non-income producing deposits could be taxed at a lower flat rate and the taxes collected from the bank itself.

Legion Seeks Legislation.

Senator Day introduced a joint resolution in the state senate petitioning congress for legislation which will give "a square deal" to the sick and wounded veterans of the world war.

The resolution, which was introduced at the request of the American Legion of Ohio, asks congress to pass legislation placing under one head the war risk insurance bureau, the rehabilitation division of the federal board for vocational education and the United States public health service. It asks congress to appropriate sufficient funds to build and maintain enough hospitals to provide treatment of all cases resulting from the service in the world war, requiring hospitalization.

A bill to provide for the decentralization of the bureau of war risk insurance by the establishment of regional offices, a bill to grant vocational training with training pay to all disabled service men who have a disability of 10 per cent. or more or a vocational handicap and a bill to return on two-thirds pay, temporary officers who were disabled in the service placing them on a par with officers of the regular service, are also recommended.

SOVIET WOULD MAKE A TRADE

prisoners at the monastery, March 19, when the International News service correspondent was permitted to make a trip there to interview any Americans who might be detained in the camp.

Seeking Business.

London, March 29.—The Russian soviet government probably will continue it efforts for trade with America, Jaan Antenovitch Behrsin, soviet minister to Finland, announced at Helsingfors. "Other efforts undoubtedly will be made," said M. Behrsin, "most likely through American business concerns, to which we are ready to grant concessions, while, of course, soviet Russia is undoubtedly ready to make new overtures at any time the American government sees fit to change its viewpoint toward us. But one thing is certain," he added, "despite all newspaper reports to the contrary, Russia will not give up communism and revert to the principle of private property. We now have for the first time peace with our neighbors and have things well in hand at home. Our government is willing to become a capitalistic concern itself in order to maintain communism within its borders. As a government, it will deal with foreign countries, granting and guaranteeing concessions, but the results of these deals on produce necessary for our people will continue to be distributed communistically by our government."

Soviet Orders Locomotives.

London, March 29.—The Russian soviet government has given Sweden an order for 1,000 locomotives and Germany an order for 100, says a wireless dispatch from Moscow. Coming to America.

Shopmen Conduct an All-Night Vigil at Henry Home.

ROCKING CHAIR MYSTERY IN CELLAR ALSO SOLVED

High Back Catches Breeze from Broken Window—Oh, My! Scare's All Gone.

Francis Cowgill, local shop employe who says he has appeared on the vaudeville stage as a professional magician and who claims to be well versed in modern sciences, has made an investigation with others as to the causes of the "manifestations" at the alleged "haunted house" at Niles street and Creston avenue occupied by Err Henry and family.

Mr. Cowgill's own story of his investigation, signed and submitted to the Star, in which he attributes the sounds to natural agencies after an all night vigil Saturday, follows.

"From 8 until 12 o'clock I was assisted by Charles Witter and E. N. Wakely. At 12 o'clock I was joined by Howard Crisslinger and William Winders and two additional gentlemen whose names I can not recall.

Ah, the Zero Hour!

"About 11 o'clock a rapping was heard, first on the walls, then on the ceiling, next on the floor, then it would appear in another room. I was using a sensitive sound detector, but as I could hear the origin of the sound it would suddenly change. For this reason the instrument was of no real value.

"At last I placed the instrument against a pipe upstairs and at once learned the sound was in the pipe. We followed up the pipe lines, opening and closing valves until the trouble was stopped. The sound was caused by air bubbles in the pipes and general temperature conditions, as some of the pipes were sweating

Rock-a-By Chair and Why.

"We found in the cellar an exceptional high-back chair, which would rock if a very slight breeze was applied at the top of the chair back. The high back on the chair made a fulcrum lever which would cause the chair to rock if placed by the window. We found a broken window glass that had been covered with a piece of glass in such a manner that when the wind would blow in the proper direction it would cause a lugubrious sound.

"We had the room as dark as possible and found that a very small amount of light from the street lamp, filtering in under the window shades, caused a compound reflection on the glass of pictures.

"While the house was darkened I set up a very delicate weighing apparatus that would cause a bell to ring if a very slight pressure was made.

Could Even Weigh Ghosts.

"This instrument is so delicate it weighs the gravity of light and so sensitive that absolute quiet is essential. I would call aloud that if there were spirits in the ether that they cause the bell to ring when I counted seven. Though I tried this experiment many times, the bell never rang. That my instrument was in good working order and that it is as delicate as I claim will be affirmed by all present who witnessed me demonstrate it.

"I believe the condition at Mr. Henry's residence is more a legend caused by past happenings than by an actual reality, as we found no proof of the supernatural of the existence of an extraneous force. My assistants are greatly absorbed in the investigation of the supernatural and our services and apparatus are at the command of any one desiring them.

"Mr. Wakely lives on west Columbia street and is employed in department No. 34, Marion Steam Shovel company. Mr. Witter lives on Fairground street. Mr. Crissinger and Mr. Winders are barbers on west Center street.

ANCIENT LETTER

The International Sunday-School Lesson for April 3 is, "The Christian Living with Others."—Romans 12:1, 2 9-21.

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

If that keen-eyed little old Jew, Dr. Paul, formerly of Tarsus, could read our newspapers for a month and look about at our civilization he would probably let loose some of his boundless enthusiasm "I know it would work! I was sure they would come to it. They called me an impractical dreamer, but I saw it as a law of life; for none of us liveth to himself and none dieth to himself."

The old Apostle's sore eyes would snap as he cries: "Behold the Christian law of otherism at work on every hand! Here is a city which is not permitted to empty its refuse into the river, all for the sake of another city a hundred miles further down stream. One old-fashioned housewife, who prefers rain-water for laundry purposes, is forced to keep a coating of oil in her rain barrel, even though she personally does not object to a few mosquitoes.

"Your modern business is yielding to the same social law. Shall not a manufacturer run his plant as he pleases? Not any more. Even a factory does not live unto itself The law steps in and makes the owner install safety devices. It regulates the number of hours his employes may toil, and the minimum wage they may receive. The age of minors who may be hired is fixed by law. Matters of ventilation, sanitation and hygiene are determined by the state. Big business and little are being forced by law to recognize this new teaching of Jesus Christ; that the welfare of all is the concern of each, and that the strong must care for the weak; and that 'None of us liveth to himself, and none dieth to himself.'"

When we conjure up the figure of the Apostle Paul amid these modern scenes, we suddenly realize how socialized our day is. In dozens of ways a day, every one of us yields obedience to the principle of regarding and guarding the rights of the people who are a part of his life What the spirit-level is to the builder, this old teaching of Paul is to our day's social order. Our time has set its face against selfish individualism, and all unsocial usages.

Personal Work Possibilities.

Eagerness to extend his influences, and to count largely in his time, and to serve to the uttermost, marks the apostle Paul. He wanted to have a part in the life of the new church in Rome. Therefore, he wrote this great letter, which the Sunday-schools of the world are studying Let it be said in passing that it is a noble ambition for the modern man, with greater instrumentalities for extending and enlarging his personal influence than lay at the hand of Paul, to be a force today in China, in Turkey, in Armenia, in Russia. What Paul did for the Christian community of Rome, before ever he had trodden the streets of the imperial city, is possible today for every large minded person with respect to his own world. There are literally thousands of young people in the Orient today who owe their new life of mind and spirit to modern Americans.

Two years before the adventures of Paul on his way to Rome the letter had been written to the little company of Christians who lived and worshipped beneath the shadow of Nero's throne. The Gospel had traveled faster than the indefatigable missionary apostle. Nobody can catch up with the fast running truth of God. Even under Nero's mad sway there was arising a new imperium, which would give Rome its eternal character. Outreaching Paul eager to have a part in this development, sent a letter to this Christian company, promising to follow the letter in person as soon as possible. He did not know that his desire would be fulfilled in so strange a fashion, and that he would arrive in chains.

The Pelletration of Plain Truth.

Always there is dynamite in clearly stated truth. No army ever created can stand against the propaganda of principles. We in our own time have seen enlightened convictions overturn old despotisms. Every new cause comes to power and victory by means of the simple statement of its truth. "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." If Martin Luther had not been gripped by the truth that "the just shall live by faith" there would not now be millions of Christians celebrating four centuries of history's greatest achievements. There is power for today in this old letter of Paul, because it states eternal truth.

Never was a lesson more timely than this one. Its imperial sweep is needed by a world awakening from provincialism. It scores heavily upon present tendencies, and its horrible picture of heathenism's fruits is all too close to present conditions. If we want to know whither the present tendencies toward old sophistries and self-indulgence are leading us, we have but to read the first chapter of Paul's letter to the Romans. Even the old law given to Moses was unable to save a society given up to fleshliness. Paul pronounces the doom. "To be carnally minded is death." That judgment should ring itself into the ears of our sensualized day. No better tonic for the times is conceivable than a careful study, by Christian people of the entire Letter to the Romans.

A very close and practical relation exists between truth and life We say commonly, "It doesn't matter what a man believes, if he only does the best he knows." All history answers that error. Deed is the test of creed Actions are the product of meditation. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." This letter is a notable summary of doctrine, setting forth Paul's theology in loftiest utterances: Yes, so it is, but it is all deaded up in considerations of conduct. Paul's thought is a through train that makes no stops until it arrives at the great topic of transformed character. There is no spiritual truth that does not eventuate into life. Think loftily and loftily you will live. Think basely, and basely you will live. From this law, there is no exception

A Mood or a Loyalty?

All of us have met persons who are so "spiritual" that their religion consists of raptures and ecstacies—and a vocabulary. They feel themselves too "spiritual" to get down into the grime and sweat of the fight for righteousness. Now Paul, who was a mystic of the mystics, and who soared so high that even Peter complained that he wrote many things hard to understand, never divorced attitude from activity, truth from deed.

Thus the high point of this lesson is the great admonition "Present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service;" or, as the American revision gives in the margin, "which is your spiritual worship." That is, we are to give up our personality to toilsome days and devoted nights, to strive and struggle and serve and sympathize, and all that is to be counted as spiritual worship.

"Why, Brother Paul, what do you mean? Isn't feeling ecstatic and singing hymns and going to conventions and reading devotional books being spiritual?" Not at all; it is doing the will of God. Real spirituality is independent of all moods: it is unshakable loyalty to Jesus Christ.

The author's "therefore," at the opening of his famous chapter, pillars all his exhortations in the sublime truths concerning God which he has written in the earlier chapters. A pean of praise to the exaltedness of Jehovah closes chapter eleven. This doxology is the climax of his profound teaching about the revelation of God to man. "Therefore, present your bodies" is the logical consequence of all this wonderful truth. The upshot of the entire discourse, just practical service.

The Great Transformation.

What is the grand end and aim of all Christian teaching, so far as human life is concerned? Paul answers plainly: Transformed Christians. Here we face the ultimate thing. The supreme objective of all instruction and activity is transformed characters. Given that, and the Church can win all victories. Without it, nothing else counts.

"Isn't the need of the Church for more money?" No; it is for transformed lives.

"Surely the Church must first have more men?" No; more transformed lives.

"If there were more leading people in the church membership, the task would surely be more quickly accomplished?" No; transformed lives alone can do it.

"May we not count on the spread of the Sunday-school and Christian Endeavor and the Men's Movements to win the kingdom's victory?" No, it needs transformed lives.

"Perhaps a higher grade of preaching or a different kind, would do it? Maybe we need some more Billy Sundays?" No: nothing but transformed lives can carry the message to all the world.

From A to Z, the whole encyclopedia of Christian teaching is just this: transformed lives by the power of Christ. If the Church is failing to produce these, then the failure is fundamental and complete. Except our own personal faith bear these fruits of a transformed life, it is in vain. We even dare go further: the whole revelation of God to man is of no avail, until it is eventuating in transformed lives.

We may view with great concern the modern tendency to substitute sophistication and organization and wealth and power and worldly alliances for the old apostolic program of transformed lives. Does this present day disposition mean that we are not willing to pay the price which the pen of inspiration has written down? There can be no substitute for personal holiness. We may endow universities, build memorial churches, give large sums to philanthropy and religious activity: but these are merely heathen practices if they are meant to be substitutes for personal righteousness When they are the consequences of characters made over into Christ-likeness, they are wholly good. Otherwise, they are mere attempts to bribe God.

Nothing but the transformation of character can effect the great results enumerated in this chapter which we are studying: humility, faith, love, resignation, prayerfulness, liberality, hospitality, sympathy, peacefulness and forgiveness. These are but marks of the new character which the renewed mind produces. The changed life is strong for undergoing and strong for overcoming. It abhors that which is evil; and it covets earnestly the best gifts. Let us not blink or dodge the tremendous truth which is central not only to this lesson, but also to the Bible. "Be ye perfect even as your Father in Heaven is perfect."

DIPLOMACY TO SOLVE PROBLEM

dies ago. It contemplates the construction of the minimum number of warships necessary for the protection of Japan. It contains no suggestion of a threat and is entirely foreign to an idea of aggression."

About Shantung.

Asked about Shantung the baron said:

"Japan formally and officially made the statement, nearly two years ago, that Shantung would be returned to China just as soon as conditions warranted. There has been no change in that policy. Whenever a stable government replaces the factional government now functioning in China, the Japanese will withdraw."

With regard to Saghalien the situation is quite similar, the baron said. Disorders [illegible] in Russia and Siberia making it the part of wisdom for Japan to keep an eye upon conditions in territory so close to her own dominions.

"As soon as there is an effective native administration in Saghalien, Japan will evacuate her troops," he said.

The baron deprecated any notion of a really serious clash of interests between the United States and Japan.

"Japan's field of development," he said, "is not toward the United States but away from it and trouble with America is the last thing Japan is seeking."

WORLD FAMOUS AS NATURALIST

stone, who accompanied John Burroughs on many camping expeditions, on learning of the naturalist's death today, said:

"His friendship was very precious and his companionship an inspiration. He leaves behind him a vacancy in the lives of those who knew him well that will never be filled.

"His life and his books reveal the simple kindliness of his nature. His love for outdoors, the trees, the flowers and all animal life gave him a personality and outlook on life that reflected itself in the wholesomeness and simplicity of his friendship.

"John Burroughs exemplified life as all true Americans would like it to be and as it once was in this country—simple, kindly and honest."

Firestone, Ford, Edison and Burroughs met at their annual reunion in the Catskill mountains, last November, where the dead naturalist cooked for the party one of his famous "brigand steaks."

A Departed Friend.

Detroit, March 29.—Henry Ford when told of the death of John Burroughs, the naturalist, said:

"The last time I saw him, he was apparently in good health. I heard from him during his illness in California, but he took it lightly, making out that he had gone to bed merely for a rest cure. Next Sunday would have been his eighty fourth birthday.

"I have known John Burroughs about twelve years. We were brought together by our common interests in birds and growing things. There was something very simple about him and yet, with it all, there was a thoroughness of investigation and a hardihood of endurance that gave him rank as a natural man."

covered a hand grenade, which exploded underneath an automobile.

The policemen fired three volleys into the air to frighten the "Reds."

The Communists, who were heavily armed, opened fire with revolvers and hand grenades. The policemen returned the fire.

The cabinet held a special meeting, late Monday and decided upon more energetic measures against the Communists.

Large numbers of Communists from middle Germany where trouble began, are flocking into Berlin with the announced intention of assisting the "Reds" in a revolution. Herr Welsmann, director of public safety, admitted that the situation had become more serious and that this may prove a critical day.

Ringleaders of the "Reds" have made plans for an uprising, with a strike and sabotage of the electric plants in the Berlin district. Following this, it is planned to paralyze industry and tie up railway traffic. The police officials were confident they could cope with the situation, but declared that if the "Reds" were even successful to a small extent it would open the way to plundering by the lawless element of the city's population.

Battle with "Reds."

Armed Communists at Leipzig disarmed the city police guarding the Leipzig Voelkerschlact monument and stole a police automobile. A company of policemen pursued the Reds' into a suburb of Leipzig and gave battle to them.

The "Reds" took refuge in a school house. Five casualties resulted from the fighting. Another battle between Security police and "Reds" occurred at Markranstadt, when the policemen intercepted a detachment of Communists that was going from Leipzig to Leuna. The general strike proclaimed by the Communists at Leipzig was to have gone into effect at midnight. At the time this despatch was written, no word had been received as to the effectiveness of the order.

Troops are being concentrated for the protection of Berlin. The following police communique on the situation was issued, Monday night, at 10 o'clock:

"Despite the blowing up of railroad bridges, the work of troop concentration has continued unhindered. The police have captured many automobile trucks filled with revolutionaries. So far, there have been no serious military encounters."

Orders were issued to the "Green" policemen to shoot to kill if the Communists attempt to precipitate a battle in this city. All insurgents captured here and elsewhere, from this time on, will be treated as semi-military prisoners. They will be arraigned before "civil courtmartials."

More than 100 "Green" policemen were in Wilhelmstrasse guarding the government buildings. They were equipped with loaded rifles and supported by machine-guns.

THE HUB OF COMMERCE.

Daily Provrob—"The unhappy alone know the value of benevolent minds."

In a word, the Russian government, to all intents and purposes, will have to be born again before Uncle Sam is ready to trade with Russia.

From what we glean from Mr. Lansing's book, we take it that Colonel House's reputation for taciturnity is not wholly unmerited.

We do not believe those one-dollar bills raised to twenties are as common as reported. We invoiced the twenties in our pockets this morning without finding one.

The world may be becoming more enlightened, but giving extended publicity to such proceedings as the Stillman case certainly doesn't evidence it.

On the face of things we would rather give credit to the activity of the hens for the cheapness of Easter eggs than to the tender-beastedness of the profiteers.

It may be observed that the allies didn't set April 1 for the payment of that indemnity. There's no use pointing out the reason. It's obvious.

Mr. Bryan is of the opinion that the country needs a new Democratic party. Under the circumstances, the colonel can hardly be blamed for losing faith in the present one.

If North Dakota is going to go after rum-runners with machine guns, just think what the poor, unfortunate sick people of that state will have to pay for bootleg whisky to compensate for the extra risk run!

What we can't understand is the why of reiterations of the statement that there is an over-supply of dress goods. Does anybody imagine that that old one about cause and effect has been abrogated?

"I see that the 1920 wine production of France exceeded that of 1919 by 185,000,000 gallons," observed the restaurant philosopher at luncheon today. "Manifestly the French had a hunch that there was going to be a lot of 'sickness' over here for some time to come."

FOR GOOD OF GREATEST NUMBER.

The "average man" will be thankful for any decrease congress may see fit to allow in his income tax. And if the rich man is to have the satisfaction of witnessing a cut in the sur-tax rates it would appear less than just to grant no concession to the "average man." This will be, at any rate, the common judgment. And yet there is another side to the proposition that is worthy of consideration.

Not necessarily will the "average man" profit more through cutting the normal tax rate which he pays than he would from reducing the takings from the rich. It is hard to understand, perhaps, but consider it a moment. The common run of the citizenship profits more from general commercial and industrial activity than do the relatively few who take down the big dividends. When he does not have to hand to Uncle Sam a large share of his income, the rich man casts about for investments for his money. He aims to put it at work to earn more. Doing so, he provides work more continuously for those already employed or he makes employment for a greater number of workers. The "average man" may pay $10 to $50 as his share of the public revenues, which does not deprive him to an appreciable degree. But if because the head of a concern has had to deliver some tens of thousands he is unable to expand the plant or to operate it as fully as he would like to do, a good many workingmen, "average men," may lose more days' work in the course of a year than their income tax payments represent.

Since taxation revision will be one of the important subjects before congress for several months to come, it were well for all the people to ponder what is best to be done to lessen the burdens which the war has imposed. A certain amount of revenue must be obtained by the government. It should be gotten in a manner that will bear with the least weight on the greatest number.

Sketches from Life . . . By Temple

She Gets Sodas for Nothin'

SIMPLY LIVING HIGHER.

The assertion that we Americans are motor mad; that we are sorely afflicted with "acute motoritis," may be a clever one, but aside from mere cleverness in phrasing it does not add anything to the discussion. It may be held that just as we were once "bike crazy" so we have now gone wild over the automobile; but this could not be true.

At the close of last year there were registered in this country 9,211,295 motor vehicles; but it is futile to conclude from this, as is being done in some quarters, that, like the bicycle, the motor car is presently to go into the discard.

In a great measure the bicycle was given up by people who took to the motor car as a more effective means of getting about; at least those that could afford it did so. And just as they used the two-wheeled vehicle to expedite the business of the day, so these persons are this day using the motor car for many things besides pleasure rides. For many people the ownership of an automobile means that they can carry on with more dispatch the business of the day.

If it analyzed correctly what this increase in motor cars means is that we have raised fairly generally our standard of living. No doubt the phenomenon would surprise any one who had left the civilized world forty years ago and came back to it today. But he would be surprised at more than the number of motor vehicles now be seen on the streets. He would be surprised at the number of so-called luxuries which have become necessities among us. And all these so-called luxuries have made live more livable; they have extended our reach and raised life from the plane of the primitive.

The development of the automobile and its increasing use is only one more indication that our standard of living has been raised. We know what we want and, even at the cost of some hardship, if that is necessary, we are going to get it. We may call it "motoritis" if we like, but the point is that it is a good thing to have, and that it will endure until something even better than the motor car makes its appearance. And then we shall go in for that.

"What is Germany's true state of health?" asks the Baltimore American. As nearly as we can figure the thing out from this distance, she's "complaining."

It is apparent that all the rough stuff in professional ball wasn't limited to the throwing of pop bottles at the umpire.

TO PROTECT AMERICAN MARKETS.

Republican leaders in the senate and house are said to have agreed upon what is called an anti-dumping act for the protection of American markets from a flood of foreign-made goods, and if the measure is approved by President Harding it will likely be passed by congress soon after it convenes on April 11.

Two measures, in fact, will probably be necessary to give the desired protection until a new tariff bill can be adopted by congress. One will provide that no foreign goods shall be sold in this country at a price less than that in the place of origin, and the other will stipulate that customs duties shall be calculated in terms of American dollars, instead of on the value of foreign exchange.

Republican leaders indicate by the decision to defer tariff legislation that problems involved are different from those of other years, and considerable time will be required to work out schedules that will provide the maximum of revenue without interfering adversely with the export trade of the United States.

Agitation for a temporary tariff measure to be effective until the whole subject can be given consideration is perhaps not as strong as it was a few weeks ago, and the general impression seems to be that the purposes sought can be obtained by protecting American markets against the dumping of foreign goods and taking more time for readjustment of tariff schedules.

LIFE'S VAUDEVILLE.

[By James Hall Naylor]

AMERICAN PROTECTION.

The worthy Dutch are mad as sin,
For German goods are flooding in;
And so, to stop the threat'ning jam,
They'd build a dam in Amsterdam.

The Germans assert that they can't pay the indemnities demanded by the allies. They claim that they are practically bankrupt, that their business is paralyzed, that their factories are idle—that they are sadly lacking in all the means of production, money, man power, and raw materials.

Are the German statements true?

Let's see.

United States Consul Mahin, of Amsterdam, Holland, reports to this government that the business depression in his district is directly due to the revival of German industry. He declares that German articles of commerce are pouring over the border and glutting the Dutch markets; and that these articles are offered for sale at prices lower than the Dutch producers can meet.

So what are the Dutch going to do in the case?

Mr. Mahin says:

"This depression is causing demands from affected industries that the frontiers be closed to certain articles."

The Dutch have found that the Germans are—and so soon after the great war, too—an industrial menance to them; and that they will have to build a tariff wall against the threatened flood of German goods.

The allied nations of Europe ask that the United States cancel the debts owed them to this country.

Why do they make such request—demand, almost?

They say they can not pay—that financial and industrial ruin would stare them in the face, should they attempt to do so; they claim that their industries are sadly hampered, that their business is badly hindered, that their commerce will be negligible for many months and years to come.

Are these statements true?

Let's see.

Before the ways and means committee, in a recent hearing G. F. Warren, professor of agricultural economics in Cornell university, asserted that it is a fallacy to claim that foreign countries will be unable to sell their goods on the American market, and thus to aid themselves in paying their debts. If we protect American labor and American business with high tariff rates. He called attention to the fact that 33,000,000 pounds of butter had been imported into this country from Europe during eleven months ended last November; and he declared:

"No such large imports were ever before made. This butter should stay in Europe where it is badly needed. It is one of the most vital needs to promote growth in children, just what the children of Europe need now; yet, because of the exchange rate, this butter comes here and adds to the panic in our dairy industry and curtails our future production."

Yet Europe is whining that her children are starving—and is asking the United States to help to feed them.

Are we going to continue to need protection in this country?

Intelligent readers, ask yourselves that question.

This club it was announced today, hopes to have a still better club next year and, although some community work has been done this year, it expects to do more on a much broader scale the coming year, when it plans to bring to this city one of the best artists in the country for a concert number.

The Lecture-Recital club is a member of the state and city federations and also of the Federation of Music Clubs.

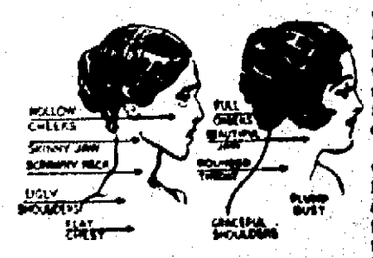
How to Round Out Your Face and Figure With Firm, Healthy Flesh.

Thin folks who want to quickly get some good, firm, solid flesh on their bones, fill out the hollows and sunken cheeks with strong, healthy tissue and build up increased energy and vitality should try taking a little Vitamon with their meals. Vitamon is a tiny concentrated tablet containing those nourishing health-giving substances of Nature—the vitamins—which Science now knows are destroyed in the cooking of most everyday foods.



If you are thin, underweight, haggard, drawn-looking or lack energy and endurance, you will find it well worth while to make this simple test: First, weigh yourself and measure yourself. Next take Vitamon—two tablets with every meal. Then weigh and measure yourself again each week and continue taking Vitamon regularly until you are satisfied with your gain in weight and energy. It is not only a question of how much better you look and feel or what your friends say and think—the scales and tape measure will tell their own story. Remember there is no substitute for vitamines just as there is no substitute for fresh air, fresh water or sunlight.

IMPORTANT: While the amazing health-value of Vitamon has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, nervous troubles, anaemia, indigestion, constipation, skin-eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, it should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having their weight increased to normal. Be sure to remember the name VI-TA-MON. Your own druggist has it in stock or can quickly procure it for you.

TAXES CLOSE TO MILLION AND WHERE DISTRIBUTED

February Settlement for Last Half of 1920.

SUM OF $882,569.46 GOES TO VARIOUS FUNDS

Figures Are Made Public by County Auditor Budge C. Decker Today.

Marion county's February tax settlement, which includes receipts from general and special taxes for the first half of 1920, amounted to $882,569.46, according to figures just made public at the office of County Auditor B. C. Decker. The work of distributing that sum to the state and the various county funds is now being carried on at the auditor's office.

From the county tax there was due the state $91,631.68 and of that amount the state owed the county $60,362.04, leaving a balance due the state of $31,269.64. A draft for the balance has been forwarded to the state auditor.

Within the county itself the county fund receives $39,771.90; poor $10,907.75; Children's home, $2,480.82; county building fund, $2,480.82; bridge, $6,143; debt, $56,901.39; election, $4,016.56; pike, $78,758.25; ditch, $5,237.30; blind relief, $984.45; judicial, $236.27, and mothers' pensions, $4,725.37. The total amounts due these funds is $212,641.89.

Various Other Funds.

Aside from these amounts $18,801.77 is due the various township funds, $323,700.52, the school funds, and $130,168.62, the funds of the cities and villages.

During the tax collecting period there was paid in special taxes $108,246.20 and in delinquent personal taxes $11,638.11. This payment of delinquent personal taxes is much larger than the receipts from this source at any tax-paying period for a number of years. The entire tax duplicate for 1920 is figured at $1,947,060.05.

From Common School Fund.

Receipts from the state common school fund amounted to $59,466.40, interest on Section No 16, $738.68; interest on Virginia military lands, $60.82, and interest on United States military lands, $51.14.

Also included in the distribution are $14,399.58 received in special assessments on ditches and $24,047.74 received in special assessments on pikes. Marion city specials on paving, sewers and sidewalks amounted to $64,834.66, village specials $4,878.71 and township specials $273.54. Depository interest on money collected during the tax-paying period and distributed to the various funds amounted to $1,701.27. Auditor's and treasurer's fees each amounted to $5,479.98, but this money now goes into the county fund instead of to the fee funds as formerly.

Distribution of Regular Taxes.

Distribution of regular taxes to the various school districts in most cases this year was made in at least two installments, due to advance draws made by a large number of the districts. The total apportionment to school districts amounted to Bowling Green township, $4,246.84; Claridon township, $10,007.94; Grand township, $1,718.01; Grand Prairie township, $12,918.60; Marion township, $12,504.57; Montgomery township, $6,297.52; Pleasant township, $22,258.25; Richland township, $5,467.66; Scott township, $12,535.79; Tully township, $17,557.86, Caledonia village, $15,332.59; Green Camp village, $6,195.01; LaRue village, $12,505.03; Marion city, $185,346.23, Morral village, $9,521.02, New Bloomington, $12,552.27; Prospect village, $20,302.98, and Waldo village, $10,981.37.

Payments to Other Counties.

Payments to other counties, the districts of which take in a part of Marion county's territory, were Delaware county, $217.43; Hardin county, $18.65; Wyandot county, $1.22, and Crawford county, $18.60.

RAINBOWED HOPES AFTER EVERY RAIN

Rainbowed hopes!

We still have them.

You will pardon the Star's star weather-obeerving reporter for sometimes carelessly and thoughtlessly dropping into the use of the plural pronoun which belongs exclusively to the editorial column, with all rights reserved. But—

We insist that our hopes for March are still of the rainbow variety, and there are no brighter hopes "in all the spectrum of the sea or sky."

Yesterday was a nasty day, but how about today? Bright and beautiful it is with just enough punch in it to make a fellow thank his lucky astral body that he's got his feet on the ground, and hasn't hitched his wagon to the stars.

Rainbowed hopes ought to come after every rain.

Automobile Bandits Get Two Pouches of Mail.

Chicago, March 29.—Four armed automobile bandits, today, held up Robert Burnett, chauffeur in a United States mail truck, at Cicero, an outlying section of the city, threatening to kill him if he resisted and escaped with two pouches containing first-class mail.

The sacks contained more than 3,000 letters, but the value of their contents is not known.

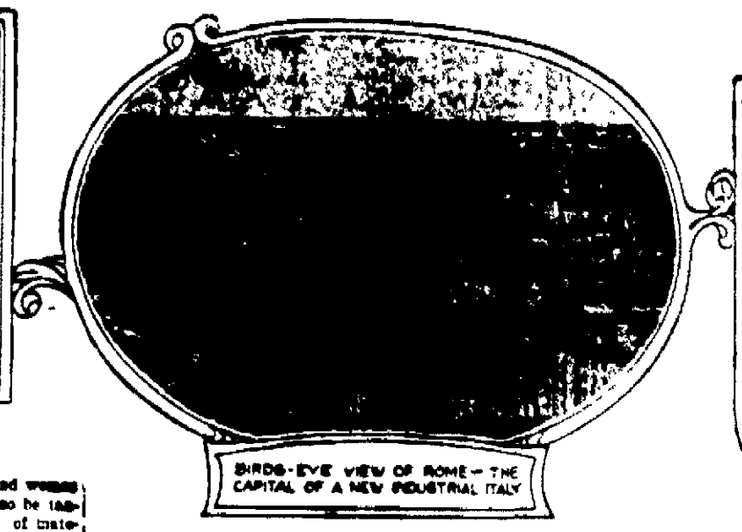
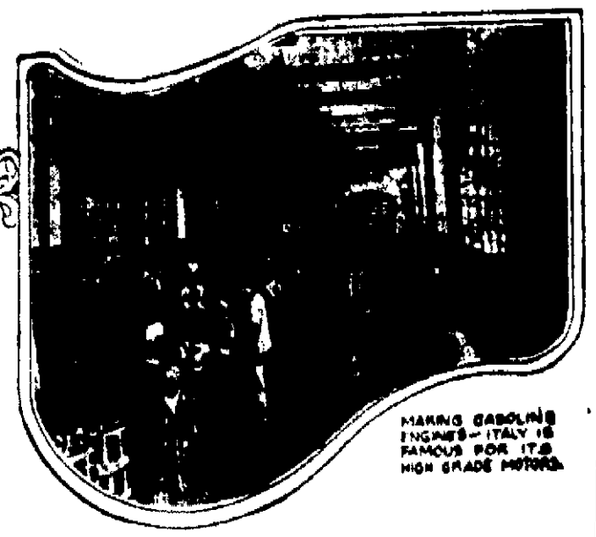
Italy Making Rapid Strides

INTERIOR OF AN ITALIAN STEEL FOUNDRY. THIS COUNTRY'S STEEL INDUSTRY IS MAKING BIG PROGRESS.



BIRDS-EYE VIEW OF ROME—THE CAPITAL OF A NEW INDUSTRIAL ITALY.



MAKING GASOLINE ENGINES—ITALY IS FAMOUS FOR ITS HIGH GRADE MOTORS.

A TWENTY-FIVE PASSENGER TRIPLANE—ITALY IS A LEADER IN AIRCRAFT PRODUCTION.

By WILLIS H. BOOTH,
Vice-President Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

No country in Europe has approached its problem of reconstruction and readjustment to the new situation in world affairs with more intelligence and energy than Italy. In estimating conditions then, we must remember that when Italy left the Triple Alliance she not only severed her political associations with Germany and Austria, but also relinquished the chief source of her food supplies and raw materials for industry. This was a complete change in the course of the country's commercial life.

The efforts which Italy has made since the armistice to fulfill the national ambition which was expressed in her repudiation of the Triple Alliance have occasioned many severe trials. She began, however, with certain exceptional advantages. Italy has always had a surplus of high grade labor. She has always been, and will continue to be, an exporter of labor, but the love of the Italian for his home country makes it possible for Italy to look complacently upon the emigration of labor in the assurance that the wealth created in other countries by the efforts of these men and women will eventually return, and so be tantamount to the exportation of materials. This situation is also associated with the fact that Italy cannot supply her own food necessities. It is economically sound, therefore, that Italian labor should live abroad and remit its surplus to the homeland.

Since the armistice Italy has resumed her industrial life with considerable rapidity. She has not been free from the uncertainties of radical political action, but there is every evidence that these are on the decline. Italy is at work as completely as any nation in Europe and more so than most of them. Her wealth in hydro-electric possibilities is being developed at a rapid rate. The current for industrial purposes, while absorbed as quickly as it is produced, is extremely cheap and in a few years it will be abundant. The whole country is being interlaced with electric lines. The various companies engaged in this work are well financed and are working harmoniously in both plant and line extensions. The men engaged in this business are young, energetic and capable. The electrification of the Italian railways now proceeding involves 4,000 miles of additional trackage. The cost of the current is not as great a problem as the cost to the government of converting the necessary equipment, but the mileage already converted is considerable and the equipment is of a high order.

Heretofore the port facilities in Northern Italy have been largely restricted to Genoa, and these are now too small for the industrial position of the country. The task of providing greater facilities, therefore, has been undertaken and a new port is in process of development at Venice, about five miles from the old city, and so laid out that the new industrial area surrounding it will not mar the beauty or destroy the romance of Venice while being at the same time of great assistance in moving raw materials and industrial manufacturers to and from Northern Italy.

The problem of any industrial community especially one with export ambitions, is the obtaining of raw materials and the efficient management of mass production. Italy is naturally bound to suffer less from the present world demand for raw materials, but there is no evidence of immediate suffering. There is enough cotton in Genoa to keep the mills running for six months, pending the shipment of the new crop. This is equally true of supplies of silk, and, to a considerable extent, of coal. Owing to speculation in coal and poor facilities for handling it, the harbor at Genoa is congested. The present supply is being gradually consumed nevertheless and new shipments must go forward in the fall. The need is not pressing at this hour. The pressure which Italy will have to bear will depend upon general business conditions throughout the world. Italy is suffering now from a shortage of orders in silk, cotton, rubber and other commodities, but I believe this condition will be of short duration. The broad world-wide shortage will make it so.

The matter of mass production has been approached by the new industrial generation intelligently. Its problems are appreciated and they are being worked out carefully.

The same conditions, with some slight differences, prevail in the field of banking and finance. Many financial institutions formerly controlled from Germany are now under management of Italians and they have found inspiration in their efforts to promote industrial enterprise. Caution is necessary to keep their ambitions within control. So far they have been very helpful to the upbuilding of the industries of the country.

This growth of industrial enterprises which is now assuming such an encouraging aspect, is going to make necessary a rapid increase in the areas under cultivation for food. It is questionable whether the intensiveness of cultivation could be increased, but projects for the reclamation of land along the rivers and adjacent to the sea are under way and these forecast large increases in the corn and other cereal areas. Large enterprises of this character are being pushed forward, but others will have to be undertaken before Italy is able to supply her own needs, in season and out of season. There is encouragement in the fact that all the things necessary to establish production capacity are being energetically and wisely provided.

I do not mean to imply that all is going to be easy sailing for Italy. She has a great debt to pay and will be able to pay it only out of surpluses, and the ability to produce these surpluses will be measured by the united efforts of agriculture, industry, banking and commerce. The will to do is there. Men with capacity and judgment are at hand. Foreign financing will be necessary and each effort in this direction will have to stand on its own merits in competition with the world demand for credit. There seems to be every assurance that co-operation between the financial and industrial interests of Italy and the extension of credit abroad will give Italy her share. The exchange situation is bad, but this is not entirely an unmixed evil. It is enforcing economy upon many countries which would otherwise never have undertaken it.

The commercial problems of Italy are not different from those of other European countries. They will all be worked out when they are thoroughly understood. It was for the purpose of developing this understanding that the International Chamber of Commerce was brought into being. This body has already done some very effective and practical work. Its organization has been completed and a building has been leased in Paris for its offices. All of the first class nations outside of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Belgium, which were the organizing nations, have been asked to co-operate. They have been prompt in indicating their willingness to do so. It is hoped that the next annual meeting, which will be held in London next July, will bring together all the larger banking and commercial interests for a free discussion of the economic situation. From these discussions, practical and unofficial, it is hoped that a solution of the world's economic problems will be evolved. The proper flow of raw materials to one of the most practical ways of assuring permanent peace. Finally, it is hoped that a closer contact of the business men of the world will exert an influence that will bring the commercial nations to a better understanding of each other. This of itself will be an important factor in establishing that harmony upon which permanent peace depends.

RATS! PAGE PIED PIPER AND TELL HIM TRUTH

Reported in Germany Marion Has Rat Plague.

SO GERMAN OFFERS HIS REMEDY TO LOUIS SCHERFF

Yeh, Marion Is Still Sitting on Top of the Whole World.

That Marion has been sitting on the top of the world for the past few months goes without telling, but this fair city loomed into newspaper notoriety in rather an unusual way in Germany recently when a newspaper published at Mannheim came out with the statement in a news article that Marion is overrun with rats.

A Free Ticket for a Rat is the headline of the article, a copy of which was received in a special delivery letter Monday afternoon by former Mayor Louis Scherff of west Columbia street, from Ludwig Moll, manufacturer and distributor of a chemical preparation for the poisoning of rats and other undesirable pests.

The letter which was written in German was translated by Mr. Scherff as follows:

Reader, Get This One!

"In Marion state of Ohio exists at this present time a great rat plague. Even picture shows are offering their drawing power in behalf of the hunt on these unsympathetic guests. In the daily papers can be found a notice wherein the manager of a film theater offers a free admission to each presentation of a dead rat."

This modern Pied Piper who deserves some credit for being on the job, stated in his letter that for fifty American dollars he would furnish a sufficient supply of the poison "Zinitin," to free the city of the rodents. He requested an early reply to his offer. He also stated that the story of the plague had appeared in other German publications.

Has Another Plan.

Mr. Scherff says he has no idea as to how the man secured his name and address. But he is more concerned over how such a ridiculous report of so many rats in Marion should become worldwide.

Marion city authorities said today, have no more rats than any other city of its size. In fact, they say, the city is remarkably free of them.

LETHAL GAS WILL BE USED IN EXECUTIONS

Governor of Nevada Signs Measure Recently Passed.

Carson City, Nev., March 29.—A bill providing for the use of lethal gas in executing the death penalty in Nevada was signed here by Governor Boyle. Signing of the bill abolishes other forms of capital punishment in the state. Hitherto condemned men had the choice between hanging or shooting. Nevada is believed to be the first state to make use the means of capital punishment.

Under the new law the death warrant must designate a week within which the execution must take place. This week must not be less than 60 nor more than 90 days after the date of the judgment. The law calls for a suitable cell for inflicting the penalty, where gas is used, and provides that the warden a competent physician and six other citizens must witness the execution.

BOY HURT WHEN TRUCK AND AN AUTO COLLIDE

Six-Year-Old Donald Landon Cut About the Face

Donald, the six year old son of Fred Landon, No. 752 Lincoln street, had his face cut in an automobile collision at the corner of Mt. Vernon avenue and Vine street Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock, when the truck driven by his father collided with a touring car driven by C. E. Burda of Bain avenue. The child struck his head against the steering wheel and received four cuts on his face from the broken windshield.

The accident happened when Landon who was coming from the east on Church street, went to turn south on Vine street and Burda in company with Charles Keller and others from the west on Church street, started to go out Mt. Vernon avenue. The Landon car was knocked about twenty feet against a signpost at the corner of the streets, and this prevented it from turning over. Both fenders and running boards, the two rear wheels and windshield were broken. The front axle and fenders of the Burda car were bent.

Holding A Husband

BY ADELE GARRISON.

I wonder sometimes if the trammels of civilization are a blessing or a curse.

If I could have followed my primitive instincts upon hearing Dicky's apology to Edith Fairfax for not having selected her favorite flowers in the corsage bouquets he had brought for the welcome-home dinner to Alfred and Lelia, I would have sprung forward, torn from their hands the box they were tying, and scattered the lovely blossoms upon the floor of the florist's shop. And in so doing I would have given vent to the jealous poison, which, instead, I was compelled to bottle up within myself while smiling amiably at my husband and the girl beside him.

And yet, in the portion of my brain that always remains sane and balances me when I am threatened with hysterical anger, I knew that Dicky really meant nothing by what he had said to Edith. It is simply part of the royally courteous, almost caressing manner which he adopts toward every woman, especially if she measure at all toward his rather fastidious standard of beauty. And, unlike many men, Dicky has kept that courteous, caressing manner to me as well—excepting, of course, when he is angry or annoyed.

The soft-voiced proprietor saved the day for me by coming forward with the roses he had been clipping. They made a wonderful fragrant mass of color, and I saw Dicky's eyes leap with the artist's love of things beautiful as he saw them. Then he glanced around the shop quickly and speculatively, then at Edith and me. I knew the look, the play for some illustration which had leaped into his mind. The little proprietor came up to Edith with the roses.

"Are these all right?" he asked, the expectation of an enthusiastic answer already in his face. He knew the value of his roses.

"Stand just as you are a minute!" Dicky commanded. "Madge, come over nearer Edith. That's right! Now, Edith, hold out your arms."

She obeyed, and he lifted the roses with infinite care from the astonished florist's hands, and placed them in Edith's arms. As he did so the girl's color flamed, and I caught my breath at the picture she made. She has always been a decidedly pretty girl. In that moment she achieved beauty.

"Turn toward Mrs. Graham!" Dicky shot the command at the florist, and the man obeyed with the look of one trying to deal tactfully with some one suddenly gone mad. "Now bow and spread your hands. That's right. Hold that just a minute. Madge, try to look as if you were Edith's elder sister, or guardian angel or bosom friend or something—approving and admiring, you know. Don't any of you move until I tell you to."

He whipped out a pencil and some paper from his pocket, caught up a piece of wood from the corner of the shop, and, using it as a sketching block, began drawing with the swift, sure strokes I had watched so often. We all stood motionless for five minutes. Then he gave a final searching look at us and put the paper in his pocket.

"And that's that," he said listlessly. "Thanks awfully." He always seems mentally and physically exhausted when he has finished a stunt of this intensive sort. "I've got the general outlines. I can fill in you girls later. Edith, don't lose that hat and gown, for I'll want some poses from you. Come on, let's go."

With impatience in every line of him he stood while the florist was wrapping up the roses, and when he had finished, grasped them eagerly and followed Edith and me out of the shop. It seemed to me as I walked toward the car that the incident was almost more than I could stand. There had been a look in Edith's eyes from which I had turned away my own. And there would be hours of sketching and posing, with her always looking her best, with her arms full of colorful, fragrant roses!

Dicky helped Edith carefully into the tonneau of the car. I wondered where he would elect to sit, himself. If he climbed in with her—left me to sit in front like a chauffeur! I knew how absolutely asinine my thoughts were, but for the moment I was devoid of inward self-control. It was all I could do to maintain the outward semblance of calmness.

"Guess you'll have to ride like a queen in state, Edie," Dicky said, laughing. "There isn't room there for anything except you and your bundles and the flowers. Here, I'll take that bag in front with us."

I opened my lips to protest, for I hate to drive with things crowded in the front seat. Then I wisely closed them again, and was glad that I did so, for Edith struck in decidedly:

"Indeed, you'll do nothing of the kind, there's loads of room! Just look here."

"All right," he assented carelessly, climbing to the seat beside me. I drove home with my hysteria harder to repress with every second. And then, when we had reached home and Dicky had helped Edith down, and she had run ahead of us into the house, he astounded me by saying crossly:

"Why the devil do you always wear those close hats and severe things when you drive? I wanted to sketch you with those roses today, you're more the type I want than Edie, but, of course, I had to have a floppy hat and frilly gown."

The Easiest Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Joyful Family Reunion

"Two of my brothers, a sister, as well as myself have been chronic sufferers from gas in stomach, indigestion, pain in right side near appendix and liver trouble for many years. My sister tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with such good results that we all took a course of it and it helped in each case. Last Sunday we had a family reunion in celebration of our recovery and what we all did eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists.—Adv.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She mixed Sulphur with it to Restore Color, Gloss, Youthfulness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advt.

It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

STRANGE POISONING!

The most eminent physicians recognize that uric acid stored up in the system is the cause of rheumatism, that this uric acid poison is present in the joints, muscles, or nerves. By experimenting and analysis at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute in Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce discovered a combination of native remedies that he called "An-uric"—which drives out the uric acid from the system, and in this way the pain, swelling and inflammation subside. If you are a sufferer from rheumatism, backache, pains here or there, you should obtain "Anuric" at the drug store; or send Dr. Pierce 10c for trial package. "Anuric" is many times more potent than lithia.

JUBILEE'S PARDNER

A fella gets kinda used to school after awhile. But he is always glad when he thinks about vacation. When I was eating breakfast I said I was glad it was going to be vacation some of these days, and my father said that he was glad I was glad, but I ought to have a little sympathy for fathers because they never have any vacation. And I said that they did not have any kick coming, because when they got to be grandfathers they did not have to work or to go to school or to go to Sunday school, and all the rest of their lives was a vacation.

Then my unkle said that he for one was darn tired of not having a vacation and he was going to ast his boss for a raise and if he did not get it he was going to quit. That made my mother mad and she said that if he lost his job he would find his suit case setting on the front steps when his week was up.

Then my unkle got kinda grouchy and said he guessed he could get another job, and my mother said he could get another boarding house too. She said my father and him made her sick talking about no vacation, and what vacation did she ever have, and just then Annabel Lee got choked on a crust so my mother had to stop talking for a minute and my father and unkle skun out for work.

A fella named Fishmouth Burns put it all over me in school today. He don't go to our school, but Nibs asted me the other day if I could lick him and I said I could, so Nibs brung him over and had him there and I was talking to Banty when Fishmouth come up behind me and pushed my hat over my eyes and gave me a kick in the pants. And Nibs grinned at me and said: "This is Fishmouth now go ahead and lick him like you said you could."

It was all so sudden that I did not have any time to get mad and a fella can't fight when he ain't mad. I said to him that I did not have anything agin him and he had better let me be, and then the bell rang and we went in and Fishmouth skun out. I could not get my lessons. I felt awful bad. Any time I looked at the bunch they was grinning at me.

I do not know what was the matter with me. Fishmouth is so bad he has to go to the unclassified school. No wonder he put it over on me. The bunch hoorawed me after school and did not wait for me and Hopper and me walked together. Hopper is a crip and goes with a crutch. He kept telling me I could lick Fishmouth with one hand tied behind me, but I would not talk and he went home and left me and Jubilee setting in our barn.

I do not know what I will do. Maybe I better run away from home. I sot there and looked at the dummed animals but two cows and a horse and a dog do not know anything about trouble. I could hardly eat my piece of punkin pie when I et supper, and I went to bed and pulled Jubilee up by the rope in his teeth. I bet someone will go and tell Miss. I don't care. Darn women! Darn everyone. I am going to paint Nibs.

GARIS' BEDTIME STORIES

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE SWEET WATER.

[BY HOWARD R. GARIS.]

[Copyright 1921, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.]

"What's the matter, Sammie?" asked Uncle Wiggily one evening as he stopped at the home of the little rabbit boy to pay a visit. "You look cross and unhappy."

"He is," said Susie, who was putting her cornjob doll to bed. "He hasn't got his home work done and I have mine all finished!"

"Huh! Yes! Such home work as I have!" grumbled Sammie. "The lady mouse teacher wants me to learn all about the trees in the woods—how to tell which is a maple, which is a pine and which has the white birch bark. I know that last one, anyhow."

"Well, it would be good for you to know all the trees," said Uncle Wiggily. "We rabbits have to eat tree bark very often. It is well to know the trees."

"Pooh! I don't think so!" said Sammie. "I'm not going to study this old lesson, anyhow. I'm going to look at my picture book!"

And though Susie told her brother he'd better study, and though Uncle Wiggily said it was not hard for a rabbit boy to learn the different kinds of trees, Sammie would not listen.

And, of course, next day, not knowing his lesson, he was kept in after school by the lady mouse teacher. Sammie had to write, fifty times, the sentence: "The pine tree has long, green needles for leaves."

"And tomorrow," said the lady mouse, as she told Sammie he might go, "I hope you will know more about the trees, little rabbit boy."

Sammie didn't say anything. He just hurried out of the hollow stump school, anxious to find Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow, the puppy dog boys, to play marbles with them.

But all the animal boys had gone on through the woods long ago, and Sammie was so fussed up from having been kept in until he missed having fun, that he did not notice which way he hopped. And, before he knew it, that rabbit boy was lost in the woods.

Yes, just as true as I'm telling you, Sammie was lost in the forest, and he didn't know which way to go to get to his home! He hopped first this way, and then that, until he was all tangled up.

"Well, if I can't find my own burrow house maybe I can find where Uncle Wiggily lives," thought Sammie, as he gave a big jump, thinking he heard a Fox in the bushes. But it was only a black crow.

"Please, Mr. Crow," begged Sammie, "can you tell me where my house is?"

"No! No!" cawed the crow. "I don't know," and away he flapped on his black wings.

It was beginning to get dusk, and Sammie felt rather frightened, when, all of a sudden, he heard a rustling in the bushes, and out popped—Uncle Wiggily!

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" cried Sammie. "How glad I am to see you! You'll take me home, won't you?"

"Of course," said the bunny. "But what are you doing so far in the woods so late, Sammie?"

"I—I was kept in after school for not knowing my tree lesson," said Sammie.

"Oh!" spoke Uncle Wiggily. "Well, come along. I'll take you home." And he hopped.

"No! No!" cawed the crow.

along beside the hunny gentleman the little rabbit boy became very thirsty.

"Can't I get a drink, Uncle Wiggily?" he asked.

"Not for quite a while yet," answered Mr. Longears. "There are no springs in this part of the woods, and we are far from home."

Sammie hopped along with his uncle, but the little rabbit boy became more and more tired and thirsty.

"Oh, I do wish I had a drink!" Sammie cried.

Uncle Wiggily came to a stop, looked around and, going over to a certain kind of tree, he said:

"Nibble a hole in this branch, Sammie, and see what happens."

So the rabbit boy nibbled the end off a low-hanging tree branch, and out came a few drops of sweet water. Sammie let the sweet water drop on his hot tongue. It was not much but it stopped him from being thirsty.

"Oh, that sweet water was good, Uncle Wiggily," said Sammie. "What kind of a tree was that?"

"A sugar maple," said the bunny gentleman. "At this time of the year sweet water, or sap, runs out of sugar maples when they are cut. You can always get a drink from a sugar maple tree in the spring, Sammie."

"Oh!" said the little rabbit boy. "It's a good thing you know about trees, Uncle Wiggily. And—and—I'm going to study my tree lesson as soon as I get home."

"Good!" said Mr. Longears, and after that Sammie never had to be kept in for not knowing about the trees.

HIGHLY PLEASED WITH RESULTS OF HER EXPERIENCE

Redex Made Newark Woman Strong, Hearty and Happy, She Claims.

Redex, the new Herbal Remedy, is a splendid stomach medicine and seldom fails to relieve the most obstinate cases.

Mrs. John Glenger, who lives at 114 South First street, Newark, in a recent conversation with the Redex expert said: "Yes, I notice a great improvement in my general condition since I started to take Redex. My chief trouble has been with my stomach. I frequently had attacks of indigestion which were more or less distressing and painful. I had a very little appetite and had to force myself to eat at mealtimes. I was physically rundown, and in very poor condition.

"Since using Redex I am not troubled with indigestion and my appetite is good. My condition is very much improved and I am feeling better in every way than formerly.

"I shall continue taking Redex as it has helped me wonderfully. I feel stronger and much more cheerful since I have been taking it."

Those who suffer from ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, with indigestion, sour stomach, biliousness, constipation, pains across the back, or in the joints and general worn-out, run-down condition will find prompt relief in Redex.

Redex can be obtained in Marion at Lower's, Schmidt's and all first-class drug stores.—Adv.

Healthy Mother Merry Children Happy Home

TO maintain a happy home the housewife must keep in good health. Her duties are many and various, and it seems as if every other member of the family depended very much on her.

"Where is my hat?" cries the boy.

"What did you do with my coat?" asks the daughter.

"I can't find any handkerchiefs," yells the husband.

The housewife is usually the advisor and general manager of the family.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helps women to maintain a happy home by keeping them in good health.

Bloomington, Ill.—"I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has done me a wonderful sight of good. I was never very strong and female trouble kept me weak so that I had no interest for my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or clean up a room without raging with pain. I would rub my back with alcohol and it would ease for a few hours, but after I had taken three bottles of Vegetable Compound my aches began to gradually leave me. Now I am as strong and healthy as any woman and I give my thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. J. A. McQUITTY, 610 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

Dante, So. Dakota.—"I would have pains and cramps every month until I could hardly stand it and could not do my work at all at that time and often had to go to bed. I went to a physician, but he did not do me much good and said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspaper and thought I would give it a trial. Now I feel lots better and don't have to give up and go to bed, and can do all my work. You may use these facts as a testimonial, and I will answer with pleasure all letters I receive, and you may be sure I will praise your wonderful medicine."—Mrs. ARTHUR J. KALE, Box 71, Dante, South Dakota.

Last Night's Fights.

At Cincinnati—Frankie [illegible] local lightweight, outpointed [illegible] Watson, Los Angeles, in ten rounds of fast milling at Gilmax A. C. Bat[illegible]ing Chink, Cincinnati, won popular decision over Waite Morret, Columbus, in ten rounds. Frankie Powers, Elyria, knocked out Johnny Ross, Akron, in the sixth round, after having Ross at his mercy from the fifth round.

At Rochester—The scheduled fifteen-round bout between Cal Delaney, Cleveland, and Irish Patsy Cline, Newark, was stopped by the referee, in the fifth round, on a claim that Cline was stalling.

At Philadelphia—George Hayes Chaney, Baltimore, knocked out Billy Angelo, York, Pennsylvania, in the fourth round.

At Boston—Johnny Clinton, Boston, won a decision over Jimmie Frazzetti, Brockton, in ten rounds.

At New York—Joe Gorman, Portland, Oregon, won a decision over Frankie Edwards, New York, in fifteen rounds.

At Pittsburgh—Joe Lynch, bantamweight champion, won a newspaper decision over Young Pinchot, in ten rounds.

At Columbus—Johnny Kiesch, of Cleveland, won a twelve round decision over Bob Moha, of Milwaukee.

Elyria Man Wins.

Columbus, March 29.—Dave Taylor, Elyria, was victor over Jakie Mellman, local boy, in a six-round boxing bout. With the same reach and height, the boxers weighed 122 pounds each. Similarity in fighting tactics was in evidence, also. It was a sluggish match from start to finish. Taylor was severely punished in the fifth round when a right hook sent him across the ring and through the ropes.

John Barklas, Greek, adjudged insane Saturday afternoon, was taken to the Columbus State hospital this morning by Deputy Sheriff S. D. Belt.

What Does Tax Exemption Mean?

Some conscientious investors may think that by purchasing a tax free security they are depriving the State of a revenue that would otherwise go to the State Treasury.

This is not true. Every Ohio corporation is obliged to pay its own taxes and the State secures its revenue direct from the company. It would therefore be unfair for the State to collect a second tax from the holder of the securities of that company, and it is on this principle that the securities of Ohio corporations are tax free to owners in Ohio.

Thus the benefit of tax exemption is a personal advantage that in no way lessens the rights of the State to enjoy the income from active industries within its borders.

LYDIA CHAPTER'S DANCE LAST NIGHT BIG SUCCESS

It Is Given for Benefit of Home Fund.

MIDST RAPS AND SIGNS OF THE VARIOUS LODGES

Loyal Order of Moose Will Conduct Its Annual Memorial Service Sunday Afternoon.

One of the most pleasing dances at the Masonic temple this season was the "home-fund" dance of Lydia Chapter, No. 88, Order of the Eastern Star, Monday evening. About 250 were in attendance, quite a number of visitors being present from out of the city.

The hall was prettily decorated with balloons and features of the program were a grand march and a serpentine dance. The Masonic seven-piece orchestra played for the dancing.

Late in the evening the Ohio State University Glee club which was in the city, was invited to the hall and sang three songs, which were very much enjoyed.

Quite a neat sum was realized from the dance which will go into the Eastern Star home fund.

Loyal Order of Moose.

At a largely-attended meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose, Monday night, final arrangements were made for holding the annual memorial services in the lodge rooms next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the public being invited. Plans were completed for an April fool box social to be held in the hall next Friday night at which time the new Moose band will give a concert. An invitation was received to attend a big meeting of Buckeye Legion at Kenton, April 10.

Minnetonka Council.

NEW TRAFFIC ORDINANCE TABLED FOR TWO WEEKS

Drawn Under State Regulations Along Metropolitan Lines.

MT. VERNON AVENUE PAVING LEGISLATION

It's Adopted by Council—C., D. & M. Authorized To Place Many Street Lights.

A new traffic ordinance, drawn under the state traffic laws and to conform with ordinances of the larger cities, was introduced at the meeting of the city council, Monday night. The new ordinance governs traffic in the city, regulates speed and the parking of vehicles, establishes safety zones for pedestrians, outlines the congested business district and embodies clauses aiming to the safety of the public in general.

Some of the councilmen were not ready to act on the ordinance, as they wished to give more consideration to a few of the clauses and, after the first reading, it was laid on the table until the next meeting to be held in two weeks.

Following three readings an ordinance was adopted to proceed with the construction of sanitary and storm sewers and a cellar drain on Vernon Heights boulevard from the Grand Avenue sewer to the south end of Vernon Heights first addition to the city.

An ordinance to pave Mt. Vernon avenue from Grand avenue to the east line of Vernon Heights addition and south on Vernon Heights boulevard to the south end of the addition, was read three times and adopted. The adoption followed three readings of an ordinance to proceed with the construction of sandstone sidewalks on both sides of Vernon Heights boulevard to the south end of the addition.

Davids Street Sewer Notes.

An ordinance was adopted to issue a note in the sum of $2,500 to pay for the sewer on Davids street from Bellefontaine avenue to the south end of the street and on the east side of the C., D. & M. right-of-way.

A resolution for the construction of sanitary and storm water sewers and a cellar drain in Owens street and the first alley east of Leader street to Chestnut street was read three times and adopted.

The Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric company was authorized by resolution to install lights as follows:

One on Pennsylvania avenue south of Indiana avenue; one at the corner of Nye and Curve streets; one on Center street between Carhart and Charles streets; one on Kentucky avenue east of Jefferson street; one on north Prospect street between Center and Mill streets; one on Windsor street north of Duluth avenue; one on the corner of Windsor and Duluth; two on Nye street half way between Bennett and Curve streets; one at the corner of Merchant avenue and Church street; one on Merchant avenue between Center and Church streets; one at the corner of Walnut and Courtland streets, and one on south Prospect street between Walnut and Washington at the bend in the street.

To Remove Lights.

A resolution was adopted authorizing the C., D. & M Electric company to remove three of the five lights installed last fall in the vicinity of the Harding residence on Mt. Vernon avenue.

A petition for sanitary and storm sewers and a cellar drain on Main street, from Ballentine avenue to Greenwood street, was referred to the sewer committee. A petition for sewers and a cellar drain in the first alley west of Charles street, from Church street to Center street was also referred to the committee.

A petition for an electric light on the south side of Columbia street between State and High streets, was referred to the light committee.

MAIL 'EM EARLY IS THE NEWEST SLOGAN

Speeding-Up Campaign Launched by Postal Department.

Mail your letters early!

This is the appeal that has been made throughout the postoffice department following the announcement of Postmaster General Hays "speed-up" program.

Cities throughout the country have been appealed to through their chambers of commerce and other civic bodies to cooperate in this movement which is expected to be the forerunner of better mail service.

In this, Marion is no exception and ready cooperation has been assured.

Hays has asked that postmasters urge business interests to mail their letters as they are ready, not waiting until the close of the day's work as has been the case.

The great bulk of the day's mail comes to the Marion postoffice in the late afternoon. The postmaster general suggests that mail be sent sufficiently frequently to relieve the congestion which comes each evening.

SMITHS ARE TO BE ARRAIGNED NEXT WEEK

Father and Son Both of Marion, Charged with Murder.

C. W. Smith, forty-seven, and his son, Charles Smith, eighteen, both of Marion, will be arraigned the latter part of this week at Akron on charges of killing Peter Schur last October, County Prosecutor Arthur Doyle announced yesterday at Akron.

The father and son, together with a woman claiming to be the wife of the father, were returned to Akron last week from Los Angeles, California, by Detective Edward McDonnell.

While in California both the father and son are reported to have made a confession to Detective McDonnell that they killed Schur. The woman, who is being held at the Akron detention home, maintains she knows nothing about the killing.
